

Beautifying Milady's Coiffure Creates Huge Industry

BRIGHT SANITARY SURROUNDINGS

or dress net which, being invisible under the glare of theater or drawing-room lights, does not detract from the charm of coiffure but enhances the life-like lustre. Women of refinement wear hair nets as they use rouge and powder, in an inconspicuous way. Except for outdoor wear, say the experts, the coarser net is wholly out of place. To encase "woman's crown of glory" some three million gross of nets are required annually. Armies of workers are employed in this country and in the Orient to provide the fifty million Gainsborough nets used in America in a year. These nets unlike any other are given the French process of sterilizing and dyeing to preserve natural oil and retain the original lustre.

The industry's phenomenal rise is replete with tales of commercial romance and adventure, tales that are echoed through China, Japan and Siberia.

INSURING PERFECTION

"The coiffure is the highlight of woman's beauty," said the late Sarah Bernhardt.

Milady is realizing the wisdom of these words, declare beauty experts, for the hair-dress is given more attention today than ever before. And the cost of maintaining a lovely coiffure, they say, is in no way comparable to the $750,000,000 spent annually in America on perfumes and cosmetics.

The amazing rise of the hair net industry offers a singular sidelight on the present tendency for "beauty in coiffure." The hair net, first deemed a fad, is now almost as much of a necessity as gloves or shoes. Even its seasons are sharply defined. Beauty experts decree that the double strand net be worn only for summer outdoor life such as golfing or motoring. In winter it is replaced by the single strand

BUDGET EXPERT OF FEDERATION

Mrs. Edith McClure Patterson of Dayton, Ohio is chairman of budgets of the General Federation of Women's Clubs and a nationally known lecturer on child psychology and home economy.

Speaking before the business women's club of Cleveland, O., recently Mrs. Patterson said: "Thrifty isn't a matter of storing away money. It's a matter of spending it wisely, and the whole happiness of the individual family and of the nation depends upon it."

"Our lawyers tell us that financial difficulties are at the back of the largest number of divorces. We worry about money and get sick and die. Any doctor will tell you that. Then why not learn to be thrifty? Women don't know as much as they should about spending. For instance, they don't think of buying groceries as a health investment. And buying the right sort of clothes is an investment in person appearance."

Amy A. Kaukonen, mayor of Fairport, Ohio, resigned recently after a bitter fight of nineteen months with bootleggers. She clamped the lid on and beat the bootleggers to a finish and then resigned. At a mass meeting of citizens her administration was declared to be the best in years, and all her predecessors were men.

FRENCH GIRL INSISTS UPON MONTANA HUSBAND

The American Aid Society of Paris has received a curious commission from Mile. Yvonne Jalla, who has a considerable fortune. She was engaged to an American lieutenant from Montana who was killed in the war. As she cannot erase his memory, she is determined to marry non but a man from Montana. As soon as the Aid Society has succeeded in finding her a Montana husband she will in return pay the passage home of fifteen destitute Americans stranded in France.

BOOKS GOING TO GUAM.

(By the Associated Press)
CHICAGO, Nov. 5.—The Island of Guam is to have a public library established by the Junior Red Cross cooperating with the American Library Association here. An initial contribution of 400 books for children has been collected and shipped to the governor of Guam.

Since few of the natives of Guam except the school children can read English, children's books and a few elementary technical books are the chief need at present.

Governors View Spectacular Demonstration in Quarries

AT STARTING POINT.

Governors of thirty states went down into the famous Indiana limestone quarries for a gigantic demonstration of how the nation's building stone is quarried. In spite of a steady rain, they mounted flatcars for a close-up view of the spectacular operations which included the quarrying of several 200-ton blocks.

America's continued prosperity, the governors were later told at a luncheon at the Greystone in Bedford, can be aided by immediate formulation of public building plans. These plans can be quickly acted upon when the commercial demand has slackened. E. M. Richter, director of the Indiana Limestone Quarriesmen's association and secretary of Furst-Kerber Cut Stone company, declared in an address that the commercial building program is in full swing, that the limestone district in which $25,000,000 is invested, is shipping out about 2,000 cars of building stone a month, and that the 25,000-car mark of 1922 will be exceeded this year. He said the building industry is thriving because railroads, in the face of great obstacles, had solved the car shortage problem.

"The building industry," he continued, "has its problems. And since the industry is second only to agriculture in magnitude, its problems become public problems. The industry has asked little aid in a governmental way, but it has striven to obtain governmental co-operation, and no better co-operation can be given now than the early formulation of your future public building programs."

Before departing for the annual governors' conference at West Baden, many of the state executives indicated their intention of carrying out the suggestion. Governor McCray of Indiana headed the party which had motored from Indianapolis to Bedford. Governor Gifford Pinchot, Pennsylvania, was an interested spectator at the quar-

EIGHT MILLION DOLLAR PARLIAMENT BUILDING

Canada contains some of the oldest and newest cities on the North American continent. Quebec, founded in 1608, and Alsask, a recently plotted town on the Alberta-Saskatchewan border, with its 360 souls, are examples that may be multiplied many times.

To the uninitiated public, Winnipeg suggests a prairie town. Those who have been privileged to visit this "Chicago of Canada" know that it is a thriving, modern city with a population of 282,000 who will celebrate Winnipeg's fiftieth birthday during June, 1924.

The initial plans for this celebration call for a Pageant of Progress and Golden Jubilee, to be produced under the aegis of the City Officials and Board of Trade and to be participated in by Winnipeggers generally.

Americans planning to vacation in the Canadian Rockies next summer, will do well to arrange their visits to coincide with Winnipeg's celebration, for a stop-over in that fine city will prove a pleasant revelation in many ways, besides affording an opportunity to participate in the anniversary festivities.

Statistics are usually considered dry reading, but they are the best way in which to glean a comprehensive knowledge of what has happened to Winnipeg in the past fifty years. From a small settlement around Fort Garry on the Red River in 1870, it has developed into the third city of Canada, with an area of 15,287 acres, of which 674 are laid out in magnificent parks; 600 miles of streets, including 118 miles of boulevards; 112 miles of street railways; is the third largest retailing city in Canada with nearly 2,000 stores of which the mammoth "Eaton's" and "Hudson's Bay Company" are known far and wide. The Hudson's Bay Company has recently established a highly interesting museum dealing with the fur trade. The city boasts 876 factories employing over 23,000 hands whose annual payroll is more than $24,000,000, and who turn out manufactures worth over $120,000,000 annually.

Winnipeg has eight large hotels, the principal being the well known Royal Alexandra, at which Lord Renfrew, otherwise known as the Prince of Wales, recently stayed. There are many other hotels and boarding houses, the latter catering to students, for Winnipeg is the seat of the Manitoba University as well as the capitol of the province, the provincial government is housed in a new parliament building of great magnificence and recently completed at a cost of $8,000,000. St. Boniface Cathedral and St. Stephen's Church, made famous by its pastor Major Gordon, known as Ralph Connor, are but two of the city's host of fine churches.

GERMANS DRIVEN FROM POTATO FIELDS—GET "LEAVINGS"

Upper photo shows German police chasing starving unemployed from potato field before crop was collected. Below, the same unemployed lined up by police to race for the "leavings" after the field had been dug.

These photos, just received from Germany, illustrate conditions there. A large field of potatoes, holding enough to feed the hundreds of hungry near by, is guarded by the police until the crop is dug. The starving peasants see the crop hauled away. Then they are "allowed" to search the field for those the diggers missed. The potatoes later probably were rationed out but in small quantities at different points. This condition exists in every district.

way" because it links those two wet cities together, has just been completed. It gives autoists a

Advertisers Look to London

(By the Associated Press)
LONDON, Nov. 6.—Arrangements for the International Advertising Convention, to be held in London next July, and at which 2,000 delegates from America will be present, are already well advanced.

A national reception committee is in existence, together with a national sight-seeing committee. The delegates will, when the business of the convention is over, visit several centers of historic interest in Great Britain.

Every section of advertising, publishing, printing and selling is supporting the convention and is represented on the general committee.

NEWS NOTES FROM MOVIELAND

Viola Dana.

Viola Dana's name is one of the most featured in pictures. Viola Dana in "Roughed Lips," Viola in "The Social Code," Viola to appear in "Angel-Faced Molly," and "she is to appear in 'The Rosebush of a Thousand Years,' so the stories read. So one gathers that Miss Dana is pretty popular with the people who make it worth while for theaters to keep open and pictures, 'The Social Code.'

"Angel-Faced Molly" is Miss Dana's fourth picture of a series for Metro. It is an original story by Fred K. Minton. Oscar Apfel will direct. Milton Sills, Gertrude Claire, Wallace MacDonald and others are also in the cast.

Betty Changes Her Mind. We just announced to whomever was interested that Betty Blythe had decided to stay in the good old U. S. A., when word comes that she has changed her mind and has sailed for Italy, where she will star in "The Reel," a Goldwyn production. The entire picture will be filmed in Paris, London and Rome. An American male lead will play opposite Miss Blythe, it is decided, but choice has not been made to date.

Daniel Frohman Selects Carmel. Daniel Frohman himself selected Carmel Myers to portray the part of Mrs. Delancey Pell in "The Real Thing," the comedy playlet which will be played for the Actor's Benefit Fund. She is appearing opposite John Barrymore in "Beau Brummel" at present.

Another Change. There should be a picture made with the title, "Why Men Change Names"—not theirs, but the names of pictures. The latest to be changed is Jack Pickford's new starring vehicle which we have been boosting to the tune of "The Valley of the Wolf." Word has now reached us that hereafter it is to be known as "The Mill-Billy." Oh all right, Jack!

Bessie Love in "Torment." We hope not, but she has just signed with Maurice Tourneur for the famine lead in this picture to play opposite Owen Moore. This will be her first picture for Tourneur. Since her work in "The Eternal Three" and Mrs. Wallace Reid's "Human Wreckage," Bessie has been very much in demand for emotional parts.

OIL NEWS

The Clark and Gilbert well in section 28-3-4 is still the center of attention by citizens of the county and scouts from other places. It is stated that several of the big companies have men either on the ground or en route. A large crowd went out Monday and many others are there today.

Those who visited the well Monday brought back highly favorable reports. Fred Orr and Leonard Braly stated to a News reporter that they were members of a party that timed the bailing of the well. They said that in 141 minutes the bailer was drawn up 15 times and the level of the oil was not lowered. The bailer is said to contain a barrel.

Sand working up from the space between the bottom of the casing and the oil sand bridged the well to an extent that stopped it from flowing over the top, but Mr. Gilbert stated that this was removed this morning and that the well was flowing again.

Mr. Gilbert said that an earthen tank of 2,500 barrels capacity has been constructed to save the oil until other arrangements can be made for its disposition.

An analysis has not yet been made of the oil, hence its value has not been determined.

The Lancaster and Smith well near the city lake is under-reaming at about 1,800 feet.

WOULD RESTRAIN HOUSE IN ACTION ON IMPEACHMENT

(Continued from Page One) district and county officers are members of the klan and charged that Attorney General Short is also reported to be a member of the invisible empire.

His petition declared that: "The constituted authorities within the state have, in a sense, given way and broken down under the influence, threats, power and dictation of the said Knights of the Ku Klux Klan."

The governor charged that about 90 per cent of the officers of the Oklahoma national guard and approximately 20 to 25 percent of the enlisted men are affiliated with the klan.

LAWTON, Nov. 6.—No action has been taken here by the federal court on the application filed today by Gov. J. C. Walton for a writ of subpoenas against the charges involved in the impeachment action against him at Oklahoma City. A date for the hearing will not be set until notice has been served on all parties named in the action, it was declared at the office of the clerk of the court.

ELABORATE PROGRAM AT FORT SILL BANQUET

LAWTON, Nov. 6.—A most elaborate banquet has been arranged by the Fort Sill and Lawton Army and Navy Club to be held in Lawton, November 15. Invitations have been issued to all Regular, National Guards, Reserve and former Commissioned Officers as well as those who have recently applied for a commission.

It is expected that the attendance will exceed the 400 mark. This event will probably be the largest gathering of its kind ever assembled in the state.

A comprehensive program has been outlined in which prominent army officers and civilians will participate. A beautiful musical program and other attractions will intersperse the evenings entertainment. The members of Fort Sill and Lawton Army and Navy Club are very enthusiastic over its rapid growth and influence in this area. Prominent officers and business men from all sections are rapidly joining the Officer's Reserve Corps. Captain Lippincott, in charge of the work there, expresses himself as highly gratified with the development of the Corps in and around Lawton. Let us hope that this town can keep astride of Lawton.

Hope Now in Firm With Wozencraft With Store Here

Wozencraft and Hope, druggists, is the style of Ada's newest business institution. However, the name is the newest feature of the business. A deal is made public today whereby Tom Hope, pioneer Ada citizen, acquires an interest in the Wozencraft Drug store.

Mr. Hope is one of the first citizens of Ada coming here in the spring of 1900 and engaging for some years in the banking business. He left Ada for a time to reside in Oklahoma City and again at Durant, and again returned to enter the drug business. Disposing of his interests, he again seeks foreign field going to Holdenville. And now, he returns to Ada again stating that he is glad to get back 'home.'

SLAYER SILENT ON TRAGEDY IN COBURN AFFRAY

(Continued from Page One) night to make a statement about the killing. He was held on a charge of murder.

There were two eye witnesses to the shooting, according to the police, Mrs. M. A. Holbrook, Coburn's stenographer, and Mrs. Oscar Weyman of Cleveland, Ohio, were in the office at the time. They said Fox fired four shots and that Coburn toppled from his chair dead. Fox, they said threw down his revolver after the last shot and turned and left the office. Both said that Fox made no statement before he opened fire. Mrs. Holbrook said that Fox had visited the office a few minutes before but found Mr. Coburn busy and left. He returned a few minutes later and opened fire without a word, she said.

Fox, when arrested, is quoted as saying: "I am sorry that I have had to do it, but I am glad that he is dead. He was planning to ruin me and I'd just as soon be hung as hurt. What I did had no connection with the Ku Klux Klan."

Fox said he was not connected with the klan when he was taken into custody, but newspapermen identified him as the publicity agent of the organization and police produced copies of the Night Hawk bearing his name as editor, it was said.

Dr. Fred B. Johnson of San Antonio, Texas, issued a statement to the effect that Fox had visited him and announced that he had been sent there to kill him (Johnson). According to Dr. Johnson's statement Fox said also that Simmons, E. Y. Clarke and Coburn were marked to go.

Hawkinson Body to Arrive Here Today for Funeral Service

The body of George L. Hawkinson, who died in Oklahoma City Sunday afternoon, will arrive in Ada this evening and funeral services will be conducted from the First Presbyterian church Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock. Rev. M. B. Molloy and Rev. O. E. Whitwell being in charge.

Death came after a prolonged attack of diabetes. He has been unable to work for about two years. Mrs. Hawkinson, who is teaching at Weleetka, and their son, Frank, reached the bedside just after the end came, as did Mrs. Hawkinson's father, Robert Wimbish.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

BE IN EARNEST:—Whatsoever thy hand findeth to do, do it with thy might.—Ecclesiastes 9:10.

GOLD VS. GOOD NAME.

The other day a man who was once in very prosperous circumstances but afterward suffered severe reverses, dropped an idea that impressed us as having considerable weight. He has a son who is nearing manhood. He said that when his every energy was bent on making money he knew his son when he happened to meet him on the street and that was about all. Since his misfortunes he has been with his family more of the time and he and his son are now inseparable companions and are working side by side in an endeavor to retrieve some of their past reverses and not lamenting their adversity.

Really when one stops to reflect on the worthlessness of many sons of the rich this matter is of more consequence than one might think at first glance. We have all seen striking instances of men who were so engrossed in their business that they were almost strangers to their families. Left to their own devices with plenty of easy money the sons of such men naturally gravitate toward riotous living and often bring disgrace to the family. Of course some of these boys are level headed enough to make the most of their opportunities and some fathers are not so engrossed but what they make their boys work, but more often these rich fathers are too indulgent for the good of their sons.

When the character and future of a boy is weighed in the balance against all the money a man could make in a lifetime of toil there are not many fathers who would not, like the one mentioned above, gladly see every dollar vanish rather than have his son disappoint him. It is natural for parents to look forward to the time when their children will reflect honor on the family name and no greater calamity could befall them than to realize that they had made a failure in rearing their children.

It has been known for a long time that many American speculators and no doubt some patriotic German sympathizers invested heavily in German paper marks at the close of the war, expecting that the new government would operate on a sane basis and with restored conditions the mark would rise to its pre-war value. On a gold basis a mark is worth about 24c of American money. At the close of the war it was quoted at from two to three cents. The crafty German agents spent considerable money in advertising the big profits to be made by buying the paper at that figure and holding for a rise. The New York Tribune figures that anywhere from half to three-quarters of a billion good sound dollars was thus paid over these ornamental scraps of paper. Germany was thus able to build up a nice balance over here. The same thing happened in England where another half billion was picked up. However, the mark did not rise. The socialist government kept right on printing more and at the same time plundered the middle and creditor classes by enabling debtors to pay off their debts with the same sort of paper that the government used in meeting its bills. Thus both the outside world and a large class of German citizens were swindled through the rankest fraud ever perpetrated. The government is now confronted with many grave problems most of which can be traced to its perfidy in its money matters. America has long been noted for its suckers who in trying to get rich quick, grab at anything. Thirty years ago it was the Louisiana lottery that caught the dollars of suckers, but in this day it is a fake oil or mining proposition ordinarily with a German mark flyer as an extra attraction. However, it will not be long until something else comes along and the suckers will be as numerous and as gullible as ever.

A lady writing in a current magazine calls attention to the difference in the view of life taken by the woman of a generation or two ago and the woman of today. In those days a woman at 50 was considered old and as having finished her days of activity. She considered her work done and was ready to take her place in the chimney corner to wait for the end. Today the woman of 50 considers herself still in the prime of life and pushes ahead with whatever enterprise or movement that interests her. This is as it should be with both men and women. Not only is there more life in one who is active but it usually means longer life. The late J. Pierpont Morgan died in the harness. He said that dozens of his associates who had retired to take life easy died within a few years because their minds were not actively employed. He lived to a fairly old age although he was a hard worker to the last. Some years ago Mrs. Amy Winship, 84 years old, visited friends in Ada and impressed everyone who met her with her alertness of mind. She had for several years been a student in Wisconsin university and at last accounts was still there. Her explanation was that she had always wanted to do work in a university but the opportunity never came until she was 80 years of age. She said that she had no patience with old people who sat around with folded hands waiting to die and as for herself she expected to be busy with her studies until the last hour. While all old people are not as strong and active as she was the fact remains that the person who is interested in something has a better chance of a long life than one who has lost interest in everything.

THE "HELPING HAND" CAN BE WITHDRAWN UNLESS ALL GRASP IT

Spends Four Years On Chase For Oil Sharks

FORT WORTH, Tex., Nov. 6.—Texas' most famous man hunter, J. Frank Norfleet, is back on his Hale county ranch, satisfied with his years of criminal trailing. He set forth four years ago with the world as his field to get four men. Not one did he miss. They are either dead or in custody.

They had "lifted" $45,000 from him, so he claimed, and they were going to be punished. One by one they succumbed to his relentless pursuit. The fourth has just been arrested in Salt Lake City, and that explains why Norfleet has retired to his ranch, contented and happy at last.

It was while Fort Worth and Dallas—in fact all of west Texas—were in the grip of the oil boom that a clever squad of stock swindlers appeared in these parts and proceeded to lay traps for the unwary. One of the first to happen along was J. Frank Norfleet, Hale county ranchman and deputy sheriff. He formed a notel lobby acquaintance with one of the swindlers. He was dazzled by stories of great gains made in stock speculation, and he speculated in a stock which yielded him several thousand dollars. He was persuaded to risk a little more and then a little more. Each time his wealth grew. So did his confidence in his new found friends. Eventually, he was persuaded to put up $45,000. Then everything blew up in the "stock market and Norfleet's money and his "friends" disappeared.

The ranchman began his man hunt in 1919—or just as soon as he became convinced that he had been swindled. The net result was: Joe Furey, leader of the squad, died in prison at Huntsville, Texas, after having been convicted by a Tarrant county court. Norfleet himself arrested Furey two years after the commission of the crime and after chasing him 4,000 miles.

E. J. Ward killed himself in a Washington D. C. jail after having been convicted of the Norfleet swindle and while he was awaiting trial in Washington on a similar charge.

Charlie Gerber is serving a term in the Texas state prison for swindling Norfleet.

W. B. Spencer is now under arrest in Salt Lake City, and wanted in Fort Worth for the Norfleet swindle.

Norfleet followed Furey through the United States, Canada, Mexico and into Europe. Finally he overtook him at Jacksonville, Florida, and overcame him only after a struggle and fight.

The pursuit of Spencer continued four years. In one phase of it, Norfleet unearthed another gang of swindlers in Denver, a number of whom were sent to prison after a sensational trial.

Norfleet was assisted in the long chase by his son. When they would lose the trail, they would return to the ranch for rest and recuperation. Then, striking another clue, they would start out into the world again. Norfleet cannot estimate the amount of money he has spent in the pursuit but feels that he has been well repaid with results.

FRESHMEN TO BE JUDGED BY TEST

Mentality of Lower Classmen to be Decided by Examinations.

NORMAN, Nov. 5.—(Special).—An intelligence test will be given all freshman students of the University of Oklahoma beginning with the freshman girls next week, university authorities announced Wednesday.

Dr. Ellsworth Collings, professor of education will conduct the tests by which the mentality of each will be determined through the Otis "group intelligence scale." Miss Ethel Lyons, dean of women, and Prof. M. O. Wilson will assist Doctor Cosgill in the tests which will be given during the girls' freshman lecture hours.

As soon as the tests of freshman women have been given, the boys will be required to take the same examination.

This information will be tabulated and will be used by deans and advisors. It will then be easy to determine whether or not the failure of a student is due to inferior mental ability or merely to neglect of work. Doctor Collings said.

Already some eastern universities are adopting the intelligence test as a means of eliminating those students who are equipped with inferior mental powers.

"Although university students are a selected group," Doctor Collings said, "there will be found those who are inferior in intelligence. The greatest number will be found of normal intelligence, while a few will be superior."

Doctor Collings said that the upperclassmen are a very superior group when compared with the freshmen, since those of deficient intelligence failed to make passing grades during the first year and eliminated in most instances.

The grade which the freshmen will make on the tests will determine the mental age, and the ratio between the mental age and the actual age is known as the intelligence quotient, or "I. Q." An "I. Q." of 100 means a normal mentality; below 100, inferiority; and above 100, superior ability. Collings explained.

Philippine's Hope for Large Lumber Orders from Japan

(By the Associated Press)
MANILA.—Philippine lumber men anticipate a brisk business in Philippine lumber for reconstruction purposes in Japan. Nearness to Japan is one of the advantages to the islands. A demand for 10,000,000 board feet of lumber is looked for within the next 60 days. Oregon will be the principal competitor of the Philippines.

The forestry department has advised local lumber men to keep their profits to the present levels.

The Forum of the Press

Oklahoma the State of Promise (Evening Eagle, Berkshire, Mass.)

We have received from the secretary of the Shawnee board of commerce, in Oklahoma a letter in which he says:

"So much conflicting information about conditions in Oklahoma has been sent out that naturally the people of other sections are in a confused state of mind as to the true conditions. We would appreciate the courtesy if you would write us as to the conclusions you have reached as to the situation."

We respond to this request not willingly alone but gladly.

Oklahoma is all right!

Fortunately we do not have to rely upon generalities for our assertion. We met this summer a young man from the heart of that American commonwealth. He was a fine, upstanding type of man, possessed of a radiant personality, a man engaged in education, a man who had had an opportunity to study, first hand, the spirit not only of the state in which he dwells, but of its youth. We were not surprised to find that the problems of this state, admitted to the American union in 1907, do not differ in any material sense from the problems in other states. It has people, assessed valuation, budget, debt, schools, colleges, churches, homes, court houses, and other beautiful and imposing buildings to house its public servants, everything that goes to make an American commonwealth.

In our opinion the state has not been injured by the irritating activities of recent months. Oklahoma is the younger set. It is growing.

Some of its people have an unfortunate habit of the eddy for the main stream, of making mountains out of molehills, of mistaking incidents for events. When it is explained that politics is at the bottom of much of the present trouble the mystery of why there should be this form of civil war becomes less a mystery.

Every state has had its trouble at one time or another. Massachusetts fought the A. P. A. Pennsylvania had its whiskey rebellion and its Molly Maguires. Illinois had its Pullman strike. Maine has had a war on rum since the time when the mind of man runneth not to the contrary. Many southern states have their lynchings, their race riots, their suppression of the ballot. Every state at the present time is trying to find out whether the outlays or the constituted authorities are supreme.

Oklahoma ought not to worry. Within her borders are many good men and true—men of splendid minds and warm hearts and excellent fibre. The stream of discord and dissent, flowing on to the sea, will yet purify itself. It is the power of our states and the glory that they have a way of surviving. The shadow of disgrace now and then falls upon their people, but they are sound at the core.

We have no fears for Oklahoma. All will yet be well with her.

World Court Week Supports Harding Plea for Membership

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—World Court Week was inaugurated today. In compliance with a suggestion of the Federated Council of Churches of Christ in America, the week will be observed throughout the country by a program of education in support of the late President Harding's plea that America become a member of the World Court. Next Sunday, Armistice day, has been designated as World Court Sunday. The Federated Council of Churches is seeking the support of the press, churches, civic organizations, schools, patriotic and fraternal societies in carrying out the week's program. The Council also is asking that during the week all voters who favor American participation in the World Court write to their congressman urging their support.

China is estimated to have 500,000 inhabitants. The average density for all China, the eighteen main provinces and the Mongolia Turkestan and Tibet, is 101.9 per square mile. Though, for diplomatic reasons, China is considered as one country, with the seat of government at Peking, it is in reality divided into five separate and frequently warring sections. All sections have the same written language, but the spoken language varies so much, even between slightly separated parts of the country, that natives of one section cannot understand those of another.

RUSSIA PAYS TO RUN INDUSTRIES

Heavy Losses Reported from Government Management of Business.

(By the Associated Press)

MOSCOW, Nov. 5.—Russia entered into a new fiscal year October 1 with the realization in government circles that while conditions are better than in 1922, some of the biggest government operated industries have not only failed to achieve their programs but have lost money.

Reports show that operations in the Baku oil fields produced about twelve per cent less than planned and ended the year with a deficit of twelve and a half million gold rubles while in the Grozny fields the indebtedness for the period was three millions of gold rubles.

Similarly an article in the Pravda says that the Donetz Basin Trust operating the largest metal and coal industry ended the year with a 4,084,000 gold ruble loss. Some few of the industries profited slightly but even the timber trust failed to attain its program.

Before fixing ambitious programs for the coming year the government officials are debating the advisability of interesting foreign capital and meanwhile urgently seeking to balance the budget.

The grain export has not brought as much as expected and the head of the export department stated that until the end of August Russia had exported almost 48,000,000 pounds from the 1922 crop and about 20,000,000 pounds of this year's crop. The government still expects to export 200,000,000 pounds of grain, part of which is of this year's crop and part of the reserve 1922 crop. (A pound is 36 pounds).

Meanwhile the government is striving to raise the price of grain for the peasants who in comparison to the soaring prices of manufactured goods are unable to buy even a suit of clothes from the proceeds of a 10-acre crop of grain.

The total of the 1923 yield is now estimated at 2,749,000,000 pounds compared with 2,242,000,000 last year. The result is an actual gain but it is far under the expectations from the much greater acreage sown.

MEXICO CITY.—Before returning to Havana, Francisco Prieto, spokesman for the Cuba trade excursionists who recently visited Mexico, announced that the Cuban government had voted $15,000 to defray expenses of a similar excursion of Mexican businessmen to Cuba.

FRANCE DEVELOPING HER BEST ATHLETES

PARIS, Nov. 5.—The French Athletic Federation has announced its program of Olympic preparation and the selection of the team which will represent France at Colombes in 1924.

Drawn up in collaboration with the heads of the principal athletic clubs of Paris and the provinces, the program calls for the elimination trials to begin immediately after the close of the cross country season, March 29th.

The selection will operate automatically, the men being chosen from the winners of five great pre-Olympic meets to be held every two weeks beginning Easter Sunday.

All the Olympic possibilities, whether they hail from Paris or the provinces, will be given an opportunity to show their ability. One of these meets will be organized at Marseilles for the athletes of southern France, while Strasbourg will look after the boys from the eastern departments. The other three will place in Paris.

The winners in the five meets, as well as those finishing second, will then gather in Paris for a final tryout and definite selection of the four men who will carry the tricolor of France in each of the events.

Farmers' Column

The county poultry association will hold an important meeting Thursday evening, November 8, at the News office. The meeting will be called to order at 7:30. The chief object of this meeting is to begin preparations for the county show which will be held December 20, 21 and 22. Among the things that will be considered is the form of a score card on which the judge will note the reasons why a bird is or is not a prize winner, thus making it possible for every exhibitor to know the type of birds that win and how to avoid mistakes in the future. This will make the fair an important educational event. The meeting is open to all who are interested in poultry or who may possibly exhibit at the county show.

A county poultry association was recently organized at Tishomingo. A fair sized membership, was enrolled and Johnston county may soon be in a position to give Pontotoc a run for its money when it comes to pure bred poultry and a first class show.

Now that tree planting time is here it would be great if property owners along the principal roads of the county would plant trees on their land adjoining the roads. In fact, Harvey Luther did that a year ago on his farm near Colbert. I think I shall put out walnut trees on the edge of Hoot Owl ranch south of Ada. Pecans would in time pay well and also make a good shade, but elms, sycamores and other trees would also look well. This tree planting may cost a little work but the expense would be very little.

Here is a recipe for oatmeal cookies which Mrs. Duvall says was tested at the recent farm congress at Stillwater and found to be excellent:

- 1-3 cup sugar.
- 1 egg.
- 1 cup flour
- 1 cup oatmeal
- 2 tablespoons milk.
- 1-2 teaspoon soda.
- 1-2 teaspoon cinnamon.
- 1-4 teaspoon cloves.
- 1-2 cup chopped raisins.

METHOD—Cream the butter add the sugar, and cream together well. Put the soda into the milk, put the egg into the sugar mixture, beat hard; add the milk, then the flour, oatmeal, cinnamon, cloves and floured raisins. Drop by spoonfuls on a greased pan and bake 15 to 20 minutes. More milk may be added if necessary and the raisins may be omitted if you prefer and still have a very nice cookie.

Lubricating Oil Emulsion

For San Jose Scale (D. C. Mooring, Extension Horticulturist)

The San Jose Scale is found pretty well distributed over the entire state and is doing much to reduce the number of fruit trees in the state as well as reducing the vigor of many others which may lead to the attack of this tree by other pests.

Most everyone is familiar with the San Jose scale but do not realize how severe they are on the trees. If there be any doubt in your minds as to the identity of this insect, consult your county or home demonstration agent.

From the use of the oil emulsion in northwest Arkansas and from a number of demonstrations that have been conducted in a number of different parts of this state, has proven that this oil emulsion is an effective spray against the San Jose scale. This should be applied in the fall after the trees have shed their foliage. There are two or three concerns in northwest Arkansas which are manufacturing this spray commercially, and you may secure their address by writing the Extension Division of the A. and M. College.

LARGE SUPPLIES OF COTTON EXPECTED FROM THE SUDAN

(By the Associated Press)

MANCHESTER—The growing of the American type of cotton in the Gezira area of the Sudan is developing rapidly and the output next year, it is estimated, will be double that of last, while in 15 years time the Sudan will be producing a million bales of cotton a year.

These statements were made recently in London by Major-General Sir L. O. F. C. Stack, Governor General of the Sudan, who explained that the increased production would result from new development work, including the construction of a dam across the Nile which would bring an additional 30,000 acres of cotton under cultivation.

New Spirit Of Youth Stirrs New Angle For Resurrection Of Russia

(By the Associated Press)

MOSCOW, Russia, Nov. 6.—An eighteen year old boy of the coming Russian generation boarded the Riga-Moscow express at a wayside station the other day, and drew the interested attention of a carload of foreign passengers. He was freckle-faced, smiling, energetic, bragging and full of nationalism, and he seemed to typify an important element, that in recent years has come out of the crucible in which the present day leaders of Russia are mixing their international chemicals.

Change this lad's Russian blouse for a suit of the "college clothes" extensively advertised in America; his round-necked hair cut for the prevailing style across the sea, his soft peasant accent for slang-sprinkled United States, and he might have been an American boy boasting of his own home town, his own state, and the U. S. A. in general.

The Russian youth was a railroad guard. The locomotive on his train, built by Russians ten years ago and repaired by Russians a few weeks before, was better than any locomotive ever built abroad, its drivewheels higher, and its speed surely greater. His train was cleaner, his railway administration was better, his country's crops best, his country's future the rosier.

The determination of Peter the Great back in 1700 forced upon his people an acceptance of the idea that the accomplishments of western civilization were superior to their own. This thought lived a long time, for up to six years ago, Russians, particularly the educated young, were inclined to swallow without question the claims of foreign civilization to superiority. They were timid violets in the field of nationalism, shyly offering Russian art as an offset to the more practical accomplishments of the Germans, English, Americans and French.

In 1917 the Russian Soviet government set out to establish a spirit of internationalism throughout Russia and the world at large, and the Third International is still preaching the Utopia of an international brotherhood, attainable by a revolutionary proletarian dictatorship.

This young railroad guard is a product of the last revolution. Many thousands like him may be found throughout Russia today. Perhaps they have absorbed some inkling of internationalism from the Third International, but to more than one observer of Russia they seem to be red-bellied, enthusiastic nationalists, and nothing else.

The "Red Army," the "Red Fleet," the Russian army, the "Red Fleet," the "Red Air Service," means Russian aviation. This boy boasted of his home town, of his state, of his railroad and of Russia in comparison to England, Germany, France and the United States. Internationalism was the last thing in his head. His thoughts were all of Russia, not as a leader in communism, but as a national entity of which he could be proud. He was the exponent of a personal nationalism, youthful and vigorous, produced by the happenings of the last six years that today is readily found by observers who look below the surface in Russia.

There would appear to be also something of this same nationalist spirit in the hearts and heads of the old communistic crusaders at the Kremlin. Now and then they play nationalist jokes on their internationalist selves. They play Russia's hand in the international poker games; but for such stakes as Wrangel Island, and Cuneo, and the claims to the chips that may be used in some future jack pot involving land, or ports or ships over which once flew the flag of Old Russia.

Such thoughts evidently are in the minds of Lenin, Trotsky and the other leaders. They surely prevail with the young guard on the Riga-Moscow express, who typifies a new spirit abroad in the land.

Newspaper--Not So Cheap

You buy a newspaper for a few cents. You carelessly put it in your pocket and pay for it. You say "Nothing in it." Or you say "Hello, I see there's an earthquake in Japan."

And you think you are SOME critic; that you are a judge of affairs. Listen.

You read in the Lewiston Journal, for instance, for the first time, that Japan had been stricken—its metropolis wiped out. Do you know what that piece of news cost in life, in effort, in service, to lay before you for your three cents—that you would throw to a beggar?

At 6:20 a. m., Saturday, September 1, the Radio Corporation of America telephoned The Associated Press that Japan had been stricken by a great earthquake. It had happened at noon, Tokyo time. In 20 minutes bulletines were on the wires to all newspapers. This was the first information given to readers in America.

The Japanese earthquake presented some of the most extraordinary and perplexing problems in the bringing of news around the world from Japan to America. At a single stroke, the usual lines of communication across the Pacific from Japan to San Francisco, both cable and wireless, were put out of commission. This compelled an immediate readjustment so that the communication from Japan, hitherto across the Pacific, would now come in the other direction around the world, across Asia, via Singapore, Suez, Gibraltar and London, to New York, known as the Eastern route. Also another outlet across Asia was available, from Japan northward to Siberia, to Moscow-London-New York, known as the Northern route.

The London and New York offices thus became active centers supplementing the work of San Francisco, in moving the mass of cable matter from Japan and nearby points, giving the first available details of the catastrophe. In this the facilities of Reuters at many vital points in the Far East were combined with those of the AP in bringing forward a large number of cable despatches direct from Osaka, Kobe, Nagasaki, and other Japanese cities in close touch with the devastated area.

On the first day of the disaster, September 1, nine of these direct despatches from Japan eight during the day and one at night—had thus circled the globe westward to London, and New York. On the following day, Sunday, the 2nd, no less than 28 of these direct despatches from Osaka and other Japanese and nearby cities came westward via London. On Monday, the 3d, there were 21 such despatches via London.

Thus, in the first two or 3 days of the great disaster 58 direct despatches came around the world westward via London, giving extended details direct from the cities in touch with the area of devastation. The Pacific route even in its crippled condition, was at the same time bringing a large number of direct despatches from Japan and China points, these rising rapidly to 23 direct despatches on the 3d. Thus from both directions, from the West and from the East, these messages from the stricken area flowed across the world and into America, giving a steadily increasing picture of the great disaster through its first crucial days.

The route across Asia was in the main the Eastern, via Suez at the outset. But it soon developed that the Northern route, via Siberia and European Russia, was exceptionally fast. This first route was freely used, making about six hours in linking Japan and China with London and New York.

In the first week of the disaster more than one hundred—exactly 101—direct despatches from the Orient had come by these Asiatic routes to London and New York, over and above the larger and constantly increasing number of despatches coming across the Pacific to San Francisco.

This is what you get for a few cents.

A correspondent went 141 miles through hell to get a part of this and altogether it was the combined effort of an entire world of correspondents—all for you. To serve you with the story that perhaps you turn aside for the mere exclamation, "Hello; there's another earthquake in Japan."

A WHITE ROSE IS FILM LOVE SYMBOL

In naming his newest photoplay production "The White Rose," D. W. Griffith has happily combined a symbol of love and the character of his heroine in the play. An orphan girl, portrayed by Mae Marsh who returns to the Griffith banner after some seasons absence, plucks a white rose and presents it to a youth of high standing at their first meeting. The lover carries it through all his wanderings as a sustaining hope. The girl, after numerous vicissitudes, and amid the disdain and ridicule of her acquaintances, emerges from her woes the same innocent child she had been at first meeting her lover.

Ivor Novello, a young English actor, will be seen as the lover. This will mark his first motion picture work in America and it is quite possible he will be received with much acclaim by the people of this country in the latest Griffith offering at the McSwain theatre today.

Two contrasting roles of high importance in the play are enacted by Carol Dempster and Neil Hamilton. Miss Dempster's role is one ideally suited to her charm and talents, that of a proud girl of the South with wealth and social standing. Mr. Hamilton will be seen in an unusually vigorous characterization, and although a newcomer to the motion picture field from the speaking stage, it is predicted that he will quickly win the approval of motion picture patrons.

Lucille La Verno and Porter Strong, as negro characters in the story, are happily placed in congenial roles. Mr. Griffith's new production is unusually attractive as concerns natural setting. He has photographed his many scenes in the heart of the Old South where the famous landscape and architectural beauty has not as yet been destroyed.

Final Month Named for Closing of New Stadium Fund Drive

NORMAN, Nov. 5.—(Special)—November, 1924 has been designated as the month when the University of Oklahoma will launch its final intensive drive for the million dollar stadium fund, according to an announcement made by Richard Cloyd, chairman of the finance committee.

Each county in the state who has student representatives has been organized into county clubs. The purpose of these clubs other than to promote a spirit of cooperation between the students from each county, is to assist the finance committee in its work. The clubs will assist in getting the attention and interest of their home county in the drive, Cloyd stated.

Osage county club was organized with the following officers: Bird Belton, Fairfax, president, Theresa Bennet, Fairfax, vice president, Loretta Sturgell, Pawhuska, secretary.

The bodies of American soldiers who fell on French battlefields during the World War have now all been brought into several large cemeteries, where they will lie permanently, unless later transferred to the United States. Work has now begun on the beautification of the cemeteries, grading the lawns and planting trees and shrubbery.

DEBATING TEAMS IN STATE LEAGUE

Over Hundred High Schools Listed for Argument in State Group.

NORMAN, Nov. 5.—(Special)—Approximately 100 state highschools have enrolled in the Oklahoma Highschool Debating league up to the present time, according to Annice Moussa, secretary, at the University of Oklahoma.

"Interruption in the mail service due to recent floods has delayed enrollment," Moussa said. "However, we expect to reach the 200 mark by November 15, at which time the debates will be scheduled and the regular work will begin," Moussa stated that further invitations have been sent out to the schools which have not yet enrolled.

The highschools will be divided into Class A and Class B, the A class being made up of highschools accredited with 15 or more units, and the others falling into class B. Class A is divided into eight districts with a director, the principal or superintendent of the winning school the year before, in each district. These directors have charge of the scheduling of debates in their district. The champions of each district are matched against each other by officials of the league, at the university.

A loving cup will be given to the champions of both class A and class B in the state contests. The time limit has been extended to November 15 to allow the schools, which have not yet enrolled to do so. No enrollments will be accepted after that date, Moussa said.

District directors of Class A are: district 1, G. B. Clift, Bartlesville; district 2, J. W. Pyburn, Jennings; district 3, Elmer L. Fraker, Cherokee; district 4, Walter V. Isle, Clinton; district 5, A. G. Hitchcock, Amber; district 6, J. F. Shortt, Healdton; district 7, R. B. Knight, Calvin; and district 8, C. E. Fair, Hartshorne.

FOR CONSTIPATION

Black-Draught Recommended by an Arkansas Farmer Who Has Used It, When Needed, for 25 Years.

Hatfield, Ark.—Mr. G. W. Parsons, a well-known farmer on Route 1, this place, says: "I keep Black-Draught in my home all the time. It is the best all-around medicine I have ever found for the liver and for constipation. We began using it 25 or more years ago and have used it whenever needed since. I have never found any other medicine as good for constipation, and that was what I suffered with till I began using Black-Draught. Black-Draught corrected this condition, and now we use it for the liver and for indigestion—a tight and sluggish feeling after meals, for bad taste in the mouth and sour stomach."

"My wife uses it for headache and biliousness. It sets on our shelf and we don't let it get out. It has been a great help to us. I believe a great deal of sickness is caused by hurried eating and constipation, and Black-Draught, if taken right, will correct this condition."
